LARGER
FRONT INTAKE

ENERGY TO CIRCULATE

The new GT-R features a number of small but significant changes to improve airflow management around and under the car to provide improved cooling and higher downforce at the same time.

A wider front intake increases airflow by 13%. The 'fan effect' of the wheels' styling draws this air out of the engine bay and thus creates a larger vacuum which generates the increased downforce at the front. In doing so, this increased volume of air also provides additional cooling for the front brakes. Underneath the car at the front, an additional NACA duct now channels air into the area of the transmission tunnel of the cabin.

At the rear, the volume of oil circulating in the transmission oil cooler has been increased and the profile of the oil pan has been redesigned to handle the higher G forces. Finally, small air vents in the lower side section of the rear bumper also provide additional exits for the hot air from the exhaust box.

STABILITY & VISIBILITY AT HIGH SPEEDS

It's got style, it's got presence - the enhanced GT-R's fine-tuned, aerodynamic body styling and new lighting technology is specifically designed to keep you on the ground and to make you visible to others.

Supercar driving has never felt this self-assured with downforce increased by 10% and drag reduced to a coefficient of 0.26 thanks to updated aerodynamic canards which send more airflow down the side of the car than over the bonnet - it's a genuine Nissan achievement.

IMPROVED RIDE BUT REDUCED ROLL.

Your drive is under your control with the enhanced design of the GT-R. The new GT-R comes with upgraded springs and dampers all round.

Under the bonnet a carbon fibre strut brace combined with a reinforced dashboard panel have provided a stiffer foundation with which to tune the front springs, dampers and revised geometry.

At the rear, the roll centre height of the suspension and toe characteristics have been adjusted to improve the grip of the inner wheel during cornering to allow the driver a higher degree of 'feel'.

A supercar sensation for everyday. The design of the front brake discs has also changed. The diameter has been increased by 10mm while the construction has been improved to provide more fade resistance when at higher disc temperatures.

Not only have we managed to increase the engine performance but improve the fuel consumption and emissions too. The CO<sub>2</sub> output now drops to 279 g/km while the introduction of the SAVE gearbox mode provides improved fuel consumption when driving on the motorway.

STYLE IN KEEPING

Sleek from the inside out – the new GT-R is an invitation to good living. Luxurious padding and seat stitching on both interior designs. Premium and Recaro Black Edition welcomes you at the door.

- Recaro Black - leather seats incorporates red side flashes in the side bolsters along with a black headlining.
- Premium is a mix of leather with perforated suede inserts and a light grey headlining.

A carbon finish around the centre console and DVD slot is set off by new magnesium paddle shifts and chrome detailing on the indicator and wiper stalks.

Presented like a precious jewel, the GT-R's advanced navigation system screen holds the eye with a new surround and redefined stitching on top of the dashboard.

THE BIRTH OF A LEGEND

The creation of each Nissan GT-R is a story of passion, dedication and meticulous control. Each Nissan GT-R engine is hand-assembled by a single technician – one of only 8 allowed the honor – in a dust and temperature-controlled clean room much like those used for Formula One racing engines. Once assembled, the engine spends an hour in bench testing and break-in, including running at redline for a rigorous 10 minutes straight, so that it's ready to give full performance in the hands of its owner. A legend is born.
