COUPE

The Coupe adds style and pace to the functional excellence of the Subaru concept.

The aluminium alloy 1600 cc engine provides bags of torque for sparkling acceleration. Whilst front wheel drive, independent suspension and servo assisted front disc brakes give the handling and stopping characteristics of a sports car.

Standard equipment includes electric cooling fan, head restraints and push button radio.

High torque, economy and ease of maintenance are features of the aluminium alloy 1600 cc engine

SUBARU 2 door saloon

SALOON

A car can be sturdily built, ruggedly dependable, thriftily economical without looking the least bit like a camel.

The Subaru 4 door and 2 door Saloons prove the point. The 1600 cc flat four engine driving the front wheels gives them an urge and surefootedness that is the envy of many.

And running on 2 star petrol, the Saloon can return a remarkable 42.6 mpg.*

With Subaru, standard features include radial tyres, tinted glass, inertia reel seat belts and push button radio. Features that you would pay dearly for elsewhere. Automatic transmission is available on the 4 door version.

SUBARU Four Wheel Drive Estate

4WD Change to Subaru four wheel drive

Never before has a car offered four wheel drive at a price less than many two wheel drive estates.

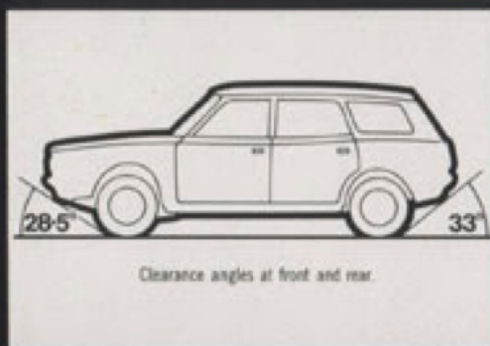

The Subaru four wheel drive Estate will take enormous loads across miles of rough ground by day, then take you out to dinner by night.

The switch from front wheel drive to four wheel drive is made without declutching, without even slowing down. And the suspension is set to give maximum ground clearance.

Snow and mud tyres, mudflaps and a rear wash/wipe are fitted as standard, plus all the usual Subaru features.

Needless to say, the 1600 cc 4WD runs on 2 star petrol, and returns an economical 39.7 mpg at constant 56 mph.

All things considered, it has got to be the best four wheel drive buy.

Clearance angles at front and rear.
