

ESCAPE

2001 ESCAPE

The question isn't where you've been, it's where you're headed.

If it's a bit of a hike, we've got the equipment to get you there.

The all-new Ford Escape. Outfitted with the optional 201 horsepower V6, you can arrive fashionably early. Or shift into available 4WD and skip paved roads altogether. (If anyone asks, tell them you're taking the scenic route.)

White-faced gauges. They look good, and they're easy to read.

*V6 engine is optional.
All claims exclude non-Ford branded derivatives.

Towing capability.

The available Class II Trailer Tow group includes wiring harness with 4-pin connector, trailer hitch receiver and an engine oil cooler. For up to 3,500-pounds towing capacity. Duratec V6 is required.

Best-in-class interior space.

There's 100.1 cubic feet for passengers. And, in back, a 33.0-cu.-ft. cargo area (rear seat up) for all of their gear.

Roof rack.

It can carry up to 100 pounds, and it's designed with two adjustable cross bars and four cargo tie-downs. Standard.

Power.

Locks. Windows. Mirrors. Driver's window has a one-touch-down feature. And power mirrors can be folded in if you're in a tight squeeze. All standard.

Impact protection.

The front bumper system and front body crush zone are designed to direct crash energy away from you and into the vehicle structure - where it belongs. Side door intrusion beams help protect you in certain side impacts.

Fully independent front and rear suspension.

Adjusts to bumps in the road (or trail) for a smooth ride.

60/40 split/fold rear seat.

Seat backs are versatile enough to fold flat or recline. Standard in XLT.

Floor console.

Four cupholders (two pop out for rear passengers), and an armrest that doubles as a cover for an enclosed storage bin (V6 XLT).

ABS.

The available 4-wheel anti-lock brake system helps provide straighter stops and greater steering control while braking under most conditions. Particularly the slippery stuff. Standard in XLT and optional in XLS.

Engines.

The optional Duratec V6 puts out 201 horsepower at 5,900 rpm and 196 lbs.-ft. of torque at 4,700 rpm. The 2.0L Zetec gives 127 horsepower at 5,400 rpm and 135 lbs.-ft. of torque at 4,500 rpm.

Optional XLT leather-trimmed Parchment interior shown.

Powerpoints. There are two up front and one in back (XLT only), so you can plug in that much easier.

Second Generation airbags are standard for the driver and front passenger. Driver and front passenger side airbags are optional. Remember, always wear your safety belt and secure children in the rear seat. Note: Airbags inflated for illustrative purposes only.

Control-Trac II 4WD System. Select "Auto" and split the torque-on-demand between front and rear wheels. Or select 4x4 "On" mode, which locks the front and rear axles together for adverse conditions, like snow, rain or sand (if you consider these conditions adverse). Optional.

Optional 6-disc in-dash CD radio. 300 watts of peak power, seven speakers, including a subwoofer and two tweeters.

Moonroof. The moon and stars are only available in XLT.

Gauges. They're luminescent for easy nighttime viewing.

Overhead console. Includes dual map lights and a storage bin for your garage door opener. (Included with moonroof option.)
